DIDACTIC SOLUTION

When the players are showing how to execute a new task, the coach should complement the players' demonstration with verbal explanations, as this will enhance players' understanding.

"Demonstration is important, but it's not enough. You need to communicate with the players to ensure they understand."

J. Mourinho

"I use both visual and verbal communication because sometimes one is not enough."

M. Bielsa

"I believe that verbal communication is important because it allows me to explain my ideas clearly to the players."

Z. Zidane
