P.Guardiola: « If we lose, it won't matter. I'll go home happy just the same knowing that I did what I believe is right »

Ekkono questions:

Why is it important to believe in what you do?

The value of: Believing in what you do

Ekkono believes that it is important not to stop believing in your principles in soccer because your principles guide you in making decisions and help you maintain a solid and coherent perspective on your path as a soccer player.
